

Katie Medley

Katie Medley is the co-founder of the non-profit Project Hope Baskets in Colorado. With her husband Caleb Medley and other survivors and friends from CO, they deliver gift baskets of hope and notes of encouragement to first responders, medical teams, city and county officials and victims and survivors of mass casualty crimes and natural disasters. Katie was nine-months pregnant with their first child when she and Caleb (a stand-up comedian) became victims and survivors of the Aurora theater mass shooting. They have delivered Hope Baskets of donated items to first responders and medical teams after the mass shooting in Vegas, Highlands Ranch (STEM school) and to the survivors of the disastrous floods on the border of Iowa/Nebraska (with the local non-profit People Helping People).
