

Jorshua N. Hernandez Carrion

Jorshua N. Hernandez Carrion was born in Bayamón Puerto Rico. He is a survivor of the Pulse nightclub massacre in Orlando, FL on June 12, 2016. He was wounded by a bullet in my left arm. He has a bar with nine screws. He was also wounded on the left side and it affected four organs which had to be reconstructed. Currently, he still has a bullet in his body.

Jorshua says, "I am here to support victims and help each survivor move forward because I went through the same thing and know it well. I want survivors and family to feel safe. Don't give up on moving forward."
