

Tara Wyzik

Tara Wyzik became an advocate in the gun violence prevention space after the shooting at Robb Elementary in Uvalde, TX. She is the Managing Director for the Uvalde Families' non-profit Lives Robbed, which fights to reduce gun violence through legislative changes at the state and federal levels. Before moving to our Leadership Council, she served as VictimsFirst board member and Director of the Make New Memories program. Tara lives in Virginia with her family and two American bulldogs.
